Created by Anouska Hempel, the London hotelier and internationally renowned designer, the hotel offers her style elegance and sensational service to the well-travelled connoisseur. Blakes is now established as totally unique worldwide and has been the model for the "fashionable small hotel" in London and cities around the world.

Every design brief Anouska Hempel addresses is carried out with her signature, perfectionism and respect for quality. Her clothes are couture, her interiors attract connoisseurs and opinion leaders and her menu must constitute an epicurean Nirvana. Mediocrity is not in her design vocabulary.

DISCOVER THE MOST GLAMOROUS WAY OF GETTING FROM A TO SEA.

It's rare these days to see such a sublime combination of teak, steel and canvas at the harbour's edge. Indeed, you need to look right back to the '30s, to the age of the J-Class Yachts, for a comparable sight.

It means that when you drive down to the marina in your new Rolls-Royce Phantom Drophead Coupé, you and your friends will experience the exhilaration of the open sea the second you open the throttle.

"I never court publicity," says Anouska Hempel, the tour de force of design talent behind Blakes.
"There's no point joining the media circus. It's much better to practise your craft and wait for the people who matter to recognise your efforts and accomplishments."

Respected for protecting the privacy of its clients against the paparazzi, it is the London base for film stars, musicians and all the top designers, earning its reputation as the "Couture" hotel.

The Chinese Room and Blakes' popular bar adjoin the restaurant. The restaurant is highly sought after as a venue for private parties. The bar is lively and full of character. In the Chinese Room delve into piles and piles of coffee table books on a myriad of subjects, having a drink or coffee can be highly amusing, away from the hustle and bustle of central London.

Blakes' restaurant has an unrivalled reputation for the originality and contents of its superb menu. Each dish, devised by Anouska Hempel is a skilful blend of East meets West, all elegantly presented to look as good as they taste.

Le Gavroche

Le Gavroche is a place for those who, in the words of Oliver Wendell Holmes "wish to dispense with the necessities of life and indulge in its luxuries."

Two generations of chefs have been trained at Le Gavroche. Many of them, like Pierre Koffman, Marco Pierre White and Gordon Ramsay have gone on to run their own Michelin starred establishments. Michel Roux is still only a young man, but it would seem he will leave a great mark on the restaurant scene in this country.

It is difficult to assess exactly how a total feeling of luxury is generated at Le Gavroche. Each element - food, service, decor - makes its own contribution. But ever since it first opened its doors that feeling has always been evident.

The fact that the reputation of Le Gavroche continues to ride high in the eyes of critics and customers now rests firmly on the food being prepared by Michel Roux. This remains classically based. There are no flashy tricks or novelty items. The quality of the ingredients remain supreme. Respect for them lies at the heart of each dish. Chapel's influence may be seen in Michel Roux's insistence that all meats and poultry be cooked on the bone, which gives it greater flavour and texture, and all are carved at the table, which all adds to the ceremony of eating in a great restaurant.

At Signor Sassi
we know that our customers are happy.

Why? ...

...they come back!

There are many things synonymous with Italy:

Riding a gondola through Italy's canals, wine tasting in the countryside, having coffee al fresco, and even walking through Napoli's narrow cobblestone streets.

At Signor Sassi these are the nostalgic feelings we want our customers to feel when they dine with us.

Blakes has a licence to perform wedding ceremonies in suite 007, pale beige and white with red contrast, this magnificent room really does have a 'licence to thrill'.

The venue is ideal for small wedding parties and can sit up to 75 guests for lunch or dinner.

Rose petals on the floor, paper hearts and magic lanterns are at your disposal along with traditional confetti throwing and even our house bagpiper. When set up for a wedding this room takes your breath away, from stunning flowers down to immaculate attention to detail and the final touch is delivered with our wedding breakfast, the perfect start to a happy marriage. Blakes is a unique venue for the most special day of your life. A wedding at Blakes will become a beautiful memory and will be the ultimate indulgence.

Our rooms come with the finest of grapefruit soaps, grapefruit candles and grapefruit room essence. Beautifully wrapped, these also make perfect gifts. A stunning range of silverware, tableware, orchids and myriad of wonderful vases can be bought at Blakes, one of London's best kept secrets.

Bouquets, wreaths, floral arrangements both classical and contemporary are made for the bride in headdresses, posies coquets as well as complimentary arrangements in the rooms, a choice of scattered rose petals, clematis, magnolias and the wonderful smelling Tuberose.

Grapefruit candles with small garlands of flowers make for a wonderful atmospheric occasion. The Corfu Suite white on white on white is Anouska Hempel's original white room and is the perfect place to start a honeymoon. You will have champagne cocktails champagne cornflakes and champagne for the rest of your life. A huge romantic, linen clad 4-poster bed with swathes of Muslin 'mosquito' nets makes the room mysterious and magical. Antique bed linens are mixed with crisp Frette sheets, soft, sumptuous and sensuous as is the lighting. Big white linen cushions on the floors and sofa. There is also a pretty little green courtyard just outside your door for drinks or a quiet meander before you go downstairs to dinner.
